Follow that man!

Gather round everyone - listen in,
There's a top secret job so let's begin.
We've got to follow that man, and see what's what.
We've got to work out what's true and what is not.

Where's he got to, where is he?
Right on the other side of Galilee.
How will we find him, how will we know?
Follow the crowds and see where they go.

See all the footprints, follow the clues.
Then we will see why he's such big news.
Look at the crowds - what can they see?
We need evidence of who Jesus might be.

Oh no! Disaster! No one's brought food.
Looks like this is the end of the road.
But what's happening now, can anyone tell?
He's got food for his friends and the people as well.

Where did he find it, did he bring it along?
No one had anything - I don't think I'm wrong.
Our super sleuth agent has found out the facts.
Jesus fed everyone with five rolls and two sprats.

Lets check out the evidence - see what's true.
If he fed 5000 with leftovers too.
Lets ask the boy who gave Jesus his snack.
Lets check if there wasn't some more round the back.

There's 12 baskets of rubbish of food that's not eaten.
There's five thousand witnesses and we have to take statements.
The boss won't believe it unless it's all written down.
It's true a detective's work is never done.

Oh no! Can there really be more to be sorted?
The seargent's just seen him walking on water.
Sometimes I wonder how much proof do you need
To convince you that Jesus is someone very special indeed.
